Rack mount protection

When the most important thing is the protection of your business communication

Rack cabinets group in a very reduced space many different equipment that they are critical for the business continuity.

The security and protection of communication appliances becomes critical to ensure the adequate continuity of every business, without regardless of the size of the company or the sector where it works.

T-box is the ideal solution for any rack or group of racks to assure the most advanced detection and extinguishing. It can work alone or grouped thru a wireless and/or cable network.

Its touch panel brings the possibility to access all the features and configurations easily and quickly, containing also different interfaces to connect to other detection or Building Management Systems (BMS) systems.
